

INTRODUCING REVAA

The Real Estate Valuation Advocacy Association (REVAA) remains at the forefront of federal and state legislative and regulatory advocacy on behalf of Appraisal Management Companies and others in the residential real estate valuation industry.

REVAA is a 501(c)(6) nonprofit collaborative of industry leading companies that offer residential real estate valuation tools including appraisals, Broker Price Opinions (BPO), Automated Valuation Models (AVM), among others. We are actively engaged in the issues most important to the future viability of the industry including ensuring reasonable and responsible regulation that promotes the availability, efficiency and reliability of real estate valuation products and services.

In the highly regulated, post Dodd-Frank world, lenders find AMCs to be invaluable partners for ensuring efficiency and compliance as a result of the functions they perform, including:

- Maintain a qualified panel of licensed appraisers ready to execute lender valuation assignments.
- Safeguard appraiser independence against undue influence in the valuation process.
- Ensure quality assurance processes to in the deliver final appraisal and valuation products.
- Support and promote a smooth, timely and responsive mortgage process for consumers and lenders.
- Protect safety /security in the completion of appraiser background checks.
- Comply with federal and state laws governing valuation products and services.

REVAA helps AMCs stay ahead of compliance complexities in an ever-changing legal and regulatory environment for AMCs. REVAA has become an invaluable networking forum for member companies to stay on top of changes, create and share best practices, discuss the compliance implications of public policy, participate in webinars, compare experiences and share information.
